Volatility Control Mechanism: This Bond implements a risk control mechanism which may potentially reduce volatility and the magnitude of drawdowns during market corrections. In this way, The Strategy attempts to generate positive risk-adjusted returns, while controlling for risk. The Strategy creates a blended portfolio with the Blackrock World Technology Fund and hypothetical cash targeting an annualised realised volatility of 22% on a daily basis adjusting exposure to a hypothetical (unremunerated) cash position, based on the volatility level. The Strategy decreases the exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund during periods of higher market volatility (above 22%) and systematically increases exposure to a hypothetical cash position. When volatility is lower, The Strategy will systematically allocate more toward the BlackRock World Technology Fund and less to hypothetical cash.

- In a high volatility environment, The Strategy decreases exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund and increases exposure to a hypothetical (unremunerated) cash position.
- In a low volatility environment, The Strategy increases exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund and decreases exposure to a hypothetical (unremunerated) cash position.

Low Risk: This Bond is categorised as a low risk investment (SRI Risk Level 2 out of 7). The 100% Capital Protection on Option A and the 90% capital protection on Option B applies at the Final Maturity Date, the relevant capital protection and the investment returns are guaranteed by BNP Paribas. The investment case for investing in technology

Technology can provide important growth opportunities for investors. Technological innovation is instrumental in delivering economic and productivity gains and the tech sector can provide high returns for investors. Technology can offer cost savings and competitive advantages to companies and can tackle major societal challenges and improve quality of life.

Investing in technology stocks can help future-proof an investment portfolio, positioning it to take advantage of the new technologies and trends that are likely to shape the future global economy. We are likely still in the early stages of the technology revolution with a significant potential growth opportunity in the years ahead. This growth is being driven by a number of factors:

- Technological advances: There are rapid advances and declining cost curves from machine vision to voice recognition, AI, cloud computing and machine learning. Technological innovations are now leading to automation and the use of robots and technology in areas they've rarely been used before, such as retail, customer services, agriculture, food harvesting & processing, logistics, autonomous delivery and even housework in our homes.
- Increasing deployment: Technological Innovations have found applications far beyond manufacturing. They are bringing greater efficiency to uses including automated distribution centres, surgical robots are increasingly common, as are, diagnostics tools, drones, and self-driving autonomous vehicles, and the internet of things to name but a few.
- Macro and social challenges: These include aging populations, a shortage of skilled care workers, the need for greater crop productivity to feed a growing population, healthcare systems already at full capacity. Increasingly we may see AI and technology being utilised to increase productivity and lower costs.

As the illustrative chart below shows, we may be on the brink of a new computing era, following previous technology growth cycles such as the mainframe, personal computing, and the mobile phone.

Technology and Computing Platforms Building Upon Themselves for Over 50 Years

A challenge for investors is how best to invest in new technology, for many this is a diverse universe of companies with rapid technological advances suddenly changing the landscape across the many areas of society. In addition, investing in technology stocks or funds also comes with risks. Technological innovation can be unpredictable, and competition in the tech sector can be fierce. Additionally, valuations of technology stocks can be high, leading to increased volatility. The Protected World Technology Bond III combines capital protected options at maturity together with global exposure to this high growth sector. The underlying funds assets are professionally selected by the leading global fund manager Blackrock, via the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund (MWOTEEA LX). BlackRock is one of the world's leading fund managers, with over €9 trillion in assets under management. and over 19,000 employees.* The 22% Volatility Target overlay and the capital protection options at maturity are provided by the leading European bank BNP Paribas.

WARNING: Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance.

The Volatility Control Mechanism

Volatility control is the management of assets through continual rebalancing between a risky asset such as the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund (MWOTEEA LX) and cash holdings. At any given point in time, the volatility of the portfolio measured on a trailing basis should remain roughly constant at the 22% target volatility level. If volatility of the fund holding goes below 22% (usually associated with a rising equity market), then the allocation to the fund can be increased up to a maximum of 200%. If volatility of the fund holding goes up above 22% (usually associated with an equity market fall), then the allocation to the fund will decrease in favour of unremunerated cash. The strategy systematically manages asset allocations to achieve the 22% Volatility Target by continual daily rebalancing between a risky asset holding (in the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund (MWOTEEA LX) and cash holdings using a mathematical formula which systematically reduces its exposure to the underlying Fund in times of high volatility, and systematically increases exposure to the Fund in times of low volatility.

- In a high volatility environment (>22% Vol); The Strategy decreases exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund and increases exposure to a hypothetical cash position.
- In a low volatility environment (<22% Vol); The Strategy increases exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund and decreases exposure to a hypothetical cash position.

22% Volatility Control on BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund Backtested Fund Allocations*

Data source: BNP Paribas 19/08/2024.

Recent history in equity markets suggests that significant falls are associated with increased volatility. Thus volatility control can protect investors by reducing fund exposure and so reducing drawdowns during volatile periods. The Strategy creates a blended portfolio using the BlackRock World Technology Fund and hypothetical cash to reach the 22% volatility target. When the BlackRock World Technology Fund is volatile (>22% Vol), The Strategy decreases exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund and increases exposure to hypothetical cash. When volatility is low (<22%), overall The Strategy exposure to the BlackRock World Technology Fund may be increased up to a maximum of 200%.

What do the credit rating letters mean?

A credit rating is an evaluation of the credit worthiness of a debtor. The evaluation is made by a credit rating agency of the debtor's ability to pay back the debt and the likelihood of default. The credit rating represents the credit rating agency's evaluation of qualitative and quantitative information for a company or government; including information obtained by the credit rating agencies' analysts.

Credit ratings are used by bond buyers to determine the likelihood that the issuer will repay its bond obligations. Each credit rating agency uses its own individual rating methodology for measuring creditworthiness. Credit ratings can be subject to changes along with changes in the economy, business environment or on issues affecting a specific firm, industry or country.

The table below defines what the credit ratings from each agency actually mean.

WARNING: If either BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. or BNP Paribas were to default, you will lose some or all of your investment.

What risks should be considered before investing?

Summary Risk Indicator:

This is a low risk product and its Summary Risk Indicator is classified as 2 out of 7 (for both Option A & B), which is low risk. If on the Final Valuation Date the Final Price Level of The Strategy is below its Initial Price Level you will receive back 100% of your initial investment amount.

Counterparty risk on BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. as the Issuer and BNP Paribas as Guarantor of the Certificates:

Your investment in the Bond is held in the form of a Certificate issued by BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. (S&P's A+) a 100% owned subsidiary of BNP Paribas (S&P's A+ / Moody's Aa3 / Fitch AA-). Investors will have exposure to the senior counterparty risk of BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. as Issuer and BNP Paribas as Guarantor. If a counterparty is unable to fulfil its contractual obligations to return funds to an investor this is known as a default. In the case of a Senior Debt default by BNP Paribas

Issuance B.V. and BNP Paribas investors would receive the Recovery Value of the Certificates. Please see pages 10-11 for further details on credit risk and the independent credit ratings of BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. as issuer and BNP Paribas as the Guarantor of the Certificates. Please see terms and conditions page 19 for a definition of Senior Debt.

Return of capital at Final Maturity Date:

- At least 100% of investors' capital is returned at the Final Maturity Date if The Strategy is flat or positive. If the final return of The Strategy is positive, investors receive 100% of the upside of The Strategy subject to a maximum return of 30% (5.48% CAR) in Option A, or 60% (10.02% CAR) in Option B. If The Strategy performance is negative Investors in Option B capital will be reduced by up to the first 10% of any negative performance of The Strategy subject to 90% capital protection. The 100% capital protection on Option A, and the 90% capital protection on Option B is provided by BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. as the Issuer and BNP Paribas as the Guarantor. (Please see examples of illustrative returns on page 9).

Market risks:

- Funds, equities, technology stocks and financial markets are speculative in nature and can be volatile, future prices may trade lower than current prices. A U.S., European or global economic recession may result in stock, commodity or financial markets weakening significantly. Global pandemics, geo-political tensions, hyper inflation, wars, invasions, natural disasters, climatic events or technological developments can cause a disruption to markets. Corporate earnings could fall, dividend levels could decrease. Credit ratings may change. Economic policies, taxation policy, interest rates, currency exchange rates, or tax rates may change. Consumption patterns may change.
- The underlying Blackrock World Technology Fund holds concentrated positions in stocks in the technology sector. Risk is increased in concentrated portfolios that are less diverse as the returns from underlying stocks in the same sector are usually more correlated with each other.
- The industries in which the underlying stocks operate are fiercely competitive and technological change is rapid. These companies face the risk that they are unable to keep pace with new innovations or that new innovations impact competitive positioning.

WARNING: If on the Final Valuation Date the Final Price Level of The Strategy is below its Initial Price Level Investors in Option A will receive initial investment amount and no investment return.

WARNING: If on the Final Valuation Date the Final Price Level of The Strategy is below its Initial Price Level Investors in Option B may lose up to 10% of the original capital invested.

- Inflation has increased, if it remains high or continues increasing over the duration of your Investment and if the returns on your Investment are lower than the rate of inflation this will reduce your purchasing power and what you could buy in the future.

Warning: Inflation may have an impact on the performance / value of your investment and on the nominal returns. The 100% capital protection on Option A, or the 90% capital protection on Option B cannot protect against the effect of inflation over time.

- Investors may not receive any investment return so this investment may result in an opportunity cost where other assets generate a higher return on investment.
- The Bond tracks the performance of the 22% Volatility Control overlay on the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund (MWOTEEA LX). As such, the returns from this Bond could be lower than if you invested directly in the underlying fund.
- This Bond may be subject to significant price movement at any time before maturity, which may in certain cases lead to the loss of your entire capital invested.
- Investing in the technology sector can have unforeseen and unintended consequences, particularly as technology evolves and becomes more sophisticated. Predicting these outcomes in advance can be challenging.

Risk regarding deductions during the life of the Bond:

- Deductions for charges and expenses are not made uniformly throughout the life of the Bond, but are loaded disproportionately onto the early period. If an investor sells the Bond prior to the end of the 4 years 11 months term, the practice of front-end loading will impact on the amount of money that the investor receives. The investor may not get back the full amount they invested.

Volatility Control:

- The Bond aims to achieve stable and robust positive performance in various market conditions through diversification, and systematic risk management. The underlying The Strategy has a volatility control mechanism which decreases the exposure to the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund (MWOTEEA LX) during periods of higher market volatility (above 22%) and systematically increases exposure to a hypothetical cash position. When volatility is lower The Strategy will systematically allocate more toward the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund and less to hypothetical cash. The Strategy could underperform the BlackRock Global Funds World Technology Fund in rapidly rising markets.

Liquidity risk:

- BNP Paribas Financial Markets aims to provide a secondary market for the certificates during the investment term. BNP Paribas Financial Markets will be the sole provider of a secondary market for the certificates. However, certain exceptional market circumstances may have a negative effect on the liquidity of the Bond, and even render the Bond entirely illiquid, which may make it impossible to sell the Bond before the Final Maturity Date and result in the partial or total loss of your initial capital invested. It is envisaged that investors will hold the Bond for the full 4 years 11 months term and all investors should consider the term before investing.

WARNING: If you invest in this product you may not have access to your money for 4 years 11 months.

No recourse to any Deposit Guarantee Scheme:

- This investment is not a Deposit. In the event of a default of BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. and BNP Paribas your investment will not be covered by any Deposit Guarantee Scheme.

Risk of product withdrawal:

- If the volume of funds raised for the Bond is insufficient to proceed, or exceeds any pre hedged amounts, or in the event of extreme market volatility, Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd., at its sole discretion and without notice, may withdraw the product, or cease to accept applications for it. Investments may also be scaled back or reduced and refunded, in whole or in part, before the Issue Date at the sole discretion of Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd.

WARNING: If you cash in your investment before the Final Maturity Date you may lose some or all of the money you invest.

WARNING: This Investment is a complex investment product and may be difficult to understand. Investors should not invest in this product without having sufficient knowledge, experience and professional advice from their Financial Broker to make a meaningful evaluation of the merits and risks of investing in a product of this type, and the information contained in this document and the Base Prospectus.

Hedging risk:

- After the receipt of a completed application form or an instruction to invest in the Bond, any investor or potential investor who then subsequently decides not to proceed with, or to withdraw from the investment for any reason whatsoever, either before or after the Issue Date of 31st October 2024, may then be entirely liable for any hedging costs, breakage costs or bid offer spreads which were incurred by Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd. in unwinding the position for the investor.

Market valuation risk:

- Prior to Maturity, the value of the Bond may be lower than the original investment amount. The early encasement value of this Bond may, during its lifetime, be lower than the amount of the capital invested and or the relevant capital protected amount at maturity. As a consequence, the investor may lose part, or all, of the invested amount if they choose to sell their investment before the Final Maturity Date. BNP Paribas Financial Markets will be the sole provider of a secondary market for the certificates.

Technology risks:

- While many technologies are successful and have the potential for even greater success, on the negative side, some advancements in technology can pose significant risks and challenges. It will be increasingly important for the technology sector to address challenges such as bias in algorithms, privacy concerns, explain-ability, and ensure that and other new technologies are developed and used ethically and responsibly to maximize the benefits for all.

If BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. and BNP Paribas, defaults on their obligations you will lose some or even all of the capital invested and any investment return. The Investment Return is provided from the pay-out of financial derivatives provided by BNP Paribas before the Start Date. Any return is conditional on the fulfilment of the Counterparty's obligations. In certain, albeit unexpected circumstances, the Counterparty may terminate or default on the derivative contract before its natural expiry. If this were to happen, the return on the investment to such termination will be calculated using best market practice and no return will be earned on the Bond. In the event that the Counterparty does not meet its obligations, or if BNP Paribas Issuance B.V. and BNP Paribas were to default, Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd. will not be liable for any special, incidental, punitive, indirect or consequential damages or losses of any kind incurred by you arising out of or in connection with the Bond.

We would need to receive an instruction from you in writing to process the early encashment of your investment. In the case of joint accounts, instructions from all parties will be required. No withdrawals may be made without Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd. and or BNP Paribas consent prior to the Final Maturity Date. Such consent will be given entirely at Cantor Fitzgerald Ireland Ltd. and BNP Paribas's discretion. Any Final Return on the Bond will depend on the performance of The Strategy. If you do require access to your Investment before the Final Maturity Date, you will only receive the then present value of your Investment less any applicable fees, which may be less than the original investment.
